The tenant has vacated the premises, the person in possession is holding contrary to a written rental agreement that prohibits subleasing the premises to another or allowing another person to occupy the premises without the written permission of the landlord, and the landlord has not knowingly accepted rent from the person in possession;

You intentionally provided false information on your application for tenancy within the past year.

NOTE: If the above cause for termination is based upon the acts of your pet, you may cure the cause and avoid termination by removing the pet from the premises prior to the end of the termination date identified above. However, if you return the pet to the premises at any time after having cured the violation, landlord, after at least 24 hours' written notice specifying the subsequent presence of the offending pet, may terminate your rental agreement and take possession in the manner provided by Oregon Law. This subsequent violation may not be cured by removing the pet.
